This notice serves to disclose some minor changes to all Jost Chemical finished goods labels starting on September 26, 2017.

The reason for the change is that Jost Chemical purchased a more robust label making software program and while all attempts were made to ensure the new labels look as close to the originals as possible, some aesthetic differences may be noticed.

The main differences, as shown below, are that the new labels are printed in a different font and some fields may be slightly shifted from their original location. Additionally, some labels may now display an EC number if one applies.

For any questions or concerns please contact Quality Assurance.

Thank you for your understanding during this transition.

The new label is shown above and the label that is being replaced is shown below.
